Welcome to Normesh

Established in 1985, we supply the two important market sectors of sieving and filtration and our staff can offer many years of experience in both fields.

Our clients cover a wide range of the manufacturing industry and include government organisations, educational and research establishments. We pride ourselves on our flexibility and our desire to meet our customers' needs effectively and economically.

In 1995 we moved into purpose built premises not far from the centre of Oldham which has provided us with an excellent centrally located base to service the UK and overseas.
