Top five random soft drinks you can buy in central London

We believe nothing creates understanding between nations like our shared love of sugared, flavoured water, so we set out to see which soft drinks of far-flung origins were available for purchase in central London, and within walking distance of our office. OK, it was a slow news day. Here are our top five, in descending order of deliciousness. (more...)

4 Lemon & Paeroa
Country of origin: New Zealand

The food miles on this will probably send you straight to hell, but at least you'll have something moderately pleasant to drink en route. The taste is vaguely similar to dandelion and burdock (ie. a bit like lemonade but less nice) though the "secret ingredient" is a closely guarded secret. £1.95, Sacred Cafe, 13 Ganton Street, W1F 9BL
